This is the private repository for Jaswanth Bollepalli to store all of the code from the course. The organization of this current repository is as follows.

lab/lab1 - hands on exercise in the part 1 under task 1, This lab familiarized me with wireshark tool, http requests, responses, and stream connections and taught me how to utilize wireshark to analyze the http protocol. In task 2, I gained knowledge on how to submit a request to a server using the telnet applications and the wireshark tool was used to learn that the connection had been established when the server replied with a certain message. Coming to part 2, in task 1, I learned the basics of web application development using the common gateway interface (CGI) and how to create real-time online applications with CGI 1. I built an HTML-formatted web application software.In task 2.. I gained some knowledge about building back-end web applications with PHP (Hypertext Preprocessor) in task 3 and i learned and understand about http get and post requests.
